

Clancy Rowe

Bachelor of Psychology (Honours)

Clancy is a fully registered psychologist in NSW, an Associate member of the Australian Psychological Society and Associate of the Royal Academy of Dancing. Clancy came to psychology after a decade long high performance career of her own, as a professional ballet dancer in Europe. She has since gained 10 years of experience teaching ballet while completing her university qualifications and engaging in psychological counselling and assessment. Clancy has chosen to focus her skills on performance psychology under the guidance of Patsy Tremayne. She continues to teach ballet and to practice in general psychology, while concurrently working with the NSWIS. Clancy has a passion for performance psychology due to its capacity to enhance people's enjoyment and achievement in their sport and life. She is keen to extend this body of knowledge to the dance world.
